It is necessary for the accomplishment of this purpose that every local union be represented."

The officers of the county union second the call in the following:

THE INAUGURATION.

Theodore Roosevelt and Charles W. Fairbanks were inaugurated in Washington Saturday as President and Vice President of the United States. The inauguration ceremonies proper were brief and impressive and the inaugural parade exceeded all previous parades in point of numbers and in unique attractions. It is estimated that 300,000 visitors were attracted to Washington. The line of march was more artistically decorated than ever before. No street in the city was without flags. Palms were a feature of the decorations and along each side of Pennsylvania avenue were noted historical figures in great numbers from the St. Louis Exposition.

The festivities of the day closed with the inaugural ball at the Peninsula building and a display of fireworks. A feature of the inaugural ball was the presence of a trained orchestra of 500 voices. The exhibition of fireworks was the most elaborate ever given at the National Capital.

ROBBERY ATTEMPTED.

An unsuccessful attempt was made early this morning to loot the Kentucky and Indiana Bank at West Point, Ky., but the burglars left without taking any booty.

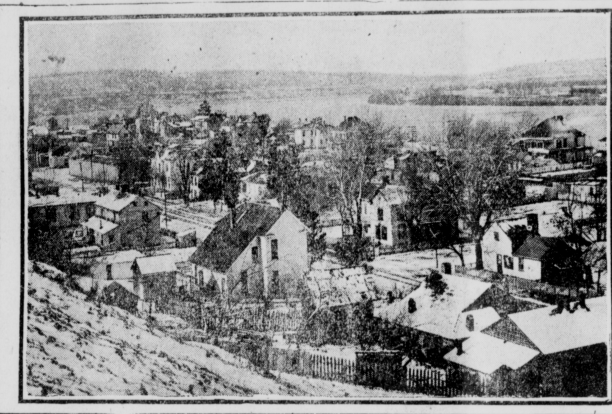

Entrance was gained by forcing a side window. The burglars used a nitroglycerin in forcing the door of the vault, but did not attempt to open the screw-door safe, which contained the bank's cash, amounting to about $1,800.

There is no clew as to the identity of the burglars. The Louisville authorities have been requested to watch for suspects.—Friday's Louisville Times.

PARTIAL VIEW OF THE WEST END OF CLOVERPORT.

GREATEST REVIVAL IN TWENTY YEARS.

Not Since Rev. Keene Saved 150
Souls Has Cloverport Been
So Stirred as at the Present.

Not since Rev. John S. Keene won 150 souls to Christ, twenty years ago, has Cloverport been so stirred by a religious revival as by the one that has been in progress at the Methodist church for the past two weeks. About seventy-five persons have been converted and reclaimed, and of these about thirty have given their names to join the Methodist church, fourteen the Baptist and one the Christian church. These are the specific results. A quickening of conscience and a desire to live a better life on the part of hundreds of persons, and the attendance of scores who have not entered the portals of any church for years,—these, and yet they are not all, are the general beneficial results of Rev. Newsum's great preaching. Interest in the revival, shown by increase in attendance and conversions, is growing with every service and the revival may continue until next Sunday.

The meeting at the Henderson Route shops last Wednesday afternoon, the meeting for children Saturday afternoon at the Methodist church and the special meeting for men Sunday afternoon, these being special services, were all well attended and very interesting. Every one of Rev. Newsum's forceful, pointed and appealing sermons has been heard by a large and attentive congregation. The congregation Sunday evening was the largest during the revival, it being estimated that 500 people were present.

Fervent co-operation on the part of members of the Methodist, Baptist and Presbyterian churches has helped to make the revival a general one.

Rev. Newsum, on leaving here, will begin a revival at the Methodist church at Hawesville.

WANTS SON VINDICATED.

J. B. Jackson Has Proof Son Did Not Spread Smallpox.

J. B. Jackson, of Tarfork, claims that threats have been made against the life of his son, Eli Jackson, by persons who claim that the latter, who had smallpox while at Evansville last December, ran away from that city and went to Tarfork and caused his brother, Marion Jackson, to have the disease, making a quarantine, and the inconveniences connected with it, necessary. Mr. Jackson has several letters from Evansville physicians to the effect that his son was in the proper condition to leave that city.

Young Jackson returned to Tarfork, on December 25, from Evansville. His brother, Marion Jackson, was taken ill with smallpox in February. The latter had been wearing a coat that belonged to the former while he was in Evansville but which had been disinfected by the authorities. The father is of the opinion that the coat spread the disease, in which case his son is vindicated, as the coat was disinfected by the authorities.

Young Jackson was persuaded to leave home and go to Evansville as a citizen of this country, whose father says, he intends to reside until the matter is not compromised.

BILL MACY CAPTURED.

Man Who Escaped From Owensboro
Jail Arrested At Garfield.

Deputy United States Marshal C. T. Nichols, of Owensboro, captured Bill Macy at Garfield last Friday night. Macy was one of several men who escaped from jail at Owensboro last year by sawing the bars from a window. He was incarcerated on the charge of retailing whiskey without a license.

The officers have been on the track of Macy for some time. Several times Marshal Nichols has almost succeeded in capturing him but could not do so without firing at him. The night of the capture Macy was found at his home by Marshal Nichols and an assistant. He refused to give himself up until the officers threatened to break in the door.

Marshal Nichols was here Saturday enroute to Owensboro with his prisoner, having driven overland from Garfield.

LIFE AT END FOR AUGUSTUS GIBSON.

Head of Well-Known Timber Firm
Of This City Dies As Result
Of Blood Clot In Right Leg.

Augustus Gibson, founder and head of the well-known timber firm of G. Gibson & Sons, died last Wednesday afternoon at 12:35 o'clock at his home in this city. Death was due to senility, which was caused by a blood clot in a blood vessel of the right leg. Mr. Gibson was taken ill with agrippa on February 18. His condition was not critical until February 24, when the blood clot was formed.

Mr. Gibson was born in Trimble county in 1838. He left Trimble county when a young man and settled in Hancock county, afterwards locating near Lodi, Breckenridge county. He engaged in farming and the timber business at Lodi and at Sample, where he lived a few years before he came to this city in 1892. At Lodi, on December 4, 1892, he was married to Miss Mary Jane Claycomb, daughter of Grayson and Elizabeth Claycomb. To this union were born the following children: William Gibson, of Holt; and Mrs. Chas. Hamman and Elijah and Larkin Gibson, of this city.

On coming to this city Mr. Gibson entered the hotel business, in connection with the timber business, and was actively engaged in both until his last illness. About four years ago Elijah Gibson became his partner in the timber business, the firm being styled G. Gibson & Son. More recently Larkin Gibson became a member of the firm, the name of which was changed to G. Gibson & Sons. The firm has dealt extensively in all kinds of timber in this and surrounding counties. As a side business, Elijah Gibson has had the agency in Breckenridge and Hancock counties of the Standard Oil company.

Besides his wife and four children, Mr. Gibson is survived by one brother, John Gibson, of near Webster, and three sisters, Mrs. Jno. Shaw, Mrs. Amos Corley and Mrs. Helen Compton, of Hartsfield.

Mr. Gibson stood well in business circles and was a man with a large acquaintance. He was a member of the Baptist church, with which he united forty-five years ago.

The funeral was conducted from the Baptist church Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. E. B. English, of Ammons, assisted by Rev. P. L. King, officiated. The interment was at the city cemetery. The funeral services were largely attended.

CARD OF THANKS.

A CONVENTION TO BE HELD APRIL 3.

Democratic Committee Meets and Decides When, Where and How To Make County Nominations.

Hardinsburg, Ky., March 7.—(Special.) At a meeting of the county committee for the Democratic party, held at the courthouse yesterday, it was decided to call a delegate county convention to be held on Monday, April 3, at this place, for the purpose of nominating a full set of candidates for the various offices, to be voted for at the November election. The precinct meetings to select the delegates to the county convention will be held on Saturday, April 1.

A majority of the committee members were present, and candidates galore were also in attendance. But the committee decided upon an executive session, and even the prospective candidates were excluded. Hence a detailed report can not be given.

It was remarked by a number of people that it was a peculiar fatality that led the committee to select April 3 as the date to select the precinct delegates. It will be difficult to convince those who look for signs and omens, that the selection of this date is not ominous and forbodes defeat for the ticket.

PRIMARY IN MEADE.

Brandenburg, Ky., March 4.—At the Democratic primary in this county to-day Hon. A. G. Thompson was nominated for Representative. W. A. Baskett, County Judge; W. D. Ashcraft, County Clerk; W. H. Hagar, Sheriff; Walter Gray, County Attorney; W. B. Arnold, County Superintendent of Schools; Jeff Brown, County Assessor; and E. R. Bondurant, Jailor. One precinct remains to be heard from, but this will not affect the result. Thompson's majority on the face of the returns is about 165. His opponent was D. M. Duncan. The primary was one of the warmest ever held in Meade county, and an unusually large vote was polled. The nominee for Representative is the incumbent of the office, and his renomination is in the nature of an endorsement. He is an Administration man.

CHAPTER XII. PRIDE AND SIMPLICITY IN THE INTER- COURSE OF MEN.

It would perhaps be difficult to find a more convincing example than pride to show that the obstacles to a better, stronger, surer life are rather in the than in the circumstances. The diversity and more than that, the contrasts in social conditions give rise inevitably to all sorts of conflicts. Yet, in spite of this, how greatly would social relations be simplified if we put another spirit into mapping out our plan of outward necessities! Be well persuaded that it is not primarily differences of class and occupation, differences in the outward manifestations of their destinies, which enjoin men. If such were the case, we should find an idyllic peace reigning among colleagues and all those whose interests and lot are virtually equivalent. On the contrary, as every one knows, the most violent shocks come when equal meets equal, and there is no war worse than civil war. But that which above all things else hinders men from good understanding is pride. It makes a man a belching, vomiting every one he touches. Let us speak first of the pride of the great.

What offends me in this rich man passing in his carriage is not his equipage, his dress or the number and splendor of his retinue. It is his contempt. That he possesses a great fortune does not disturb me, unless I am badly disposed. But that he splashes me with mud, drives over my body, shows by his whole attitude that I count for nothing in his eyes because I am not rich, like himself—this is what disturbs me, and rightfully. He hears suffering upon me needlessly. He humiliates and insults me gratuitously. It is not what is vulgar within me, but what is modest, that asserts itself in the face of this ostentatious pride. Do not accuse me of envy. I feel none. It is my manhood that is wounded. We need not search far to illustrate these ideas. Every man of any acquaintance with life has had numerous experiences which will justify our dictum in his eyes.

In certain communities devoted to material interests the pride of wealth dominates to such a degree that men are quoted like the "great" in the market. The esteem in which a man is held is proportionate to the contents of his strong box. Here "society" is made up of big fortunes, the middle class of medium fortunes. Then come people who have little, those who have nothing. All intercourse is regulated by this principle. And the relatively rich man who has shown his disdain for those less affluent is crushed in turn by the contempt of his superiors in fortune. So the madness of comparison rages from the summit to the base. Such an atmosphere is ready to perfection for the nurture of the worst feeling. Yet it is not wealth, but the spirit of the wealthy, that must be arraigned.

Many rich men are free from this gross conception—especially is this true of those who from father to son are accustomed to ease—yet they sometimes forget that there is a certain delicacy in not making contrasts too marked. Suppose there is no wrong in enjoying a large superiority, is it indispensable to display it, to wound the eyes of those who lack necessities, to daunt one's magnificence at the doors of poverty? Good taste and a sort of modesty always hinder a rich man from taking of his superiors. It is his sound sleep, his exuberance of spirit, in the presence of one dying of consumption. Many of the rich do not exercise this tact and so are greatly wanting in pity and discretion. Are they not unreasonable to complain of envy after having done everything to provoke it?

But the greatest lack is that want of discernment which leads men to ground their pride in their fortune. To begin with, it is a childish confusion of thought to consider wealth as a personal quality. It would be hard to find a more ingenious fashion of deceiving oneself as to the relative value of the container and the thing contained. I have no wish to dwell on this question. It is too painful. And yet one cannot resist saying to those concerned: "Take care, do not confound what you possess with what you are. Go learn to know the underside of worldly splendor, that you may feel its moral misery and its poverty." Without such insight, wealth is as legitimate as individual existence and liberty. These things are inseparable, and it is a dream pregnant with dangers that offers battle to such fundamentals of life. But the individual touches society at every point, and all he does should be done with the least in view. Possession, then, is less a privilege of him who is proud than a charge whose gravity should be felt. As there is an apprenticeship, often very difficult to serve, for the exercise of every social office, so this profession we call wealth demands an apprenticeship. To know how to be rich is an art, and one of the least easy of arts to master. Most people, rich and poor alike, imagine that in opulence one has nothing to do but to take life easy. That is why so few men know how to be rich. In the hands of too many wealth, according to the genial and redoubtable companion of Luther, is like a lip in the hoofs of an ass. They have no idea of the manner of its use.

So when we encounter a man at once rich and simple—that is to say, who considers his wealth as a means of fulfilling his mission in the world—we should offer him our homage, for he is surely marked worthy. He has surmounted obstacles, borne trials and triumphed in temptations, both gross and subtle. He does not fail to discriminate between the contents of his pocket-book and the contents of his head or heart, and he does not estimate his fellow men in figures. His exceptional position, instead of exalting him, makes him humble, for he is very sensible of how far he falls short of reaching the level of his duty. He has remained accessible, helpful and far from making of his wealth a barrier to separate him from other men; he makes "a means for coming nearer and nearer to them. Although the profession of riches has been so dishonored by the selfish and the proud, such a man as this always makes a noble figure, and is every one not devoid of a sense of justice. Each of us who comes in contact with him and feels the force of his look within and ask himself the question, "What would become of me in such a situation should I keep this money, this naturalness, this goodness which uses its own as though it belonged to others?" So long as there is a human society in the world so long as there are bitterly conflicting interests, so long as envy and egotism exist on the earth, nothing will be worthier of man than wealth permeated by the spirit of the benefactor. And it will do more than make itself forgiven; it will make itself beloved.

More dangerous than pride inspired wealth is that inspired by power, and I mean by the word every prerogative that one man has over another, be it unlimited or restricted. I see no means of preventing the existence in the world of men of unequal authority. Every organism supposes a hierarchy of powers; we shall never escape from that law. But I fear that if the love of power is so widespread the spirit of power is almost impossible to find. From wrong understanding and abuse of it those who keep even a fraction of authority almost everywhere succeed in compromising it.

Power exercises a great influence over him who holds it. A head must be very well balanced not to be disturbed by it. The sort of dementia which took possession of the Roman emperors in the time of their world-wide rule is a universal malady whose symptoms belong to all times. In every man there sleeps a tyrant, awaiting only a favorable occasion for waking. Now, the tyrant is the worst enemy of authority, because he exercises its intolerable caricature, whence come a multitude of social complications, collisions and hatreds. Every man who says to those dependent on him, "Do this because it is my will and pleasure," does ill. There is within each one of us something that invites us to resist personal power, and this something is very respectable, for at bottom we are equal, and there is no one who has the right to exact obedience from us because he is and I am not. If he does so his command degrades me, and I have no right to suffer myself to be degraded.

One must have lived in governments, in workshops, in the army, in school offices, he must have closely followed the relations between masters and servants, have observed a little everywhere the supremacy of man over man, exercises itself over man, to form any idea of this result, with its social power arrogantly, of every free soul there must be a slave soul, which is to say the soul of a rebel. And it appears that this result, with its social disaster, is most certain when he who commands is least removed from the station of him who obeys. The most odious of tyrants is he who is tyrant under authority. Foremen and overseers put more violence into their dealings than emperors and emperors.

ers. The corporal is generally nastier than the colonel. In certain families where mankind has not much more education than her maid the relations between them are those of the convict and his warden. And everywhere to him who falls into the hands of a subaltern drunk with his authority!

We forget that the first duty of him who exercises power is humility. Humility is not authority. It is not we who are the law; the law is over our heads. We only interpret it, but to make it valid in the eyes of others we must first be subject to it ourselves. To command and to obey in the society of men are, after all, but two forms of the same virtue—voluntary servitude. If you are not obeyed, it is generally because you have not yourself obeyed first.

The secret of moral ascendancy rests with those who rule with simplicity. They soften by the spirit the harshness of the fact. Their authority is not in shoulder straps, titles or disciplinary measures. They make use of neither force nor threats, yet they achieve everything. Why? Because we feel that they are themselves ready for everything. That which confers upon a man the right to demand of another the sacrifice of his time, his money, his passions, even his life, is not only that he is resolved upon all these sacrifices himself, but that he has made them in advance. In the command of a man animated by this spirit of renunciation there is a mysterious force which compels himself to him who is to obey and helps him do his duty.

In all the provinces of human activity there are chiefs who inspire, strengthen, magnetize their soldiers; by their direction the troops do prodigies. With them one feels himself capable of any effort, ready to go through fire, as the saying is, and if he goes it is with enthusiasm.

But the pride of the exalted is not the only pride; there is also the pride of the humble, the pride of the lowly, the pride of the great. The root of these two prides is the same. It is not alone that lofty and imperious being, the spirit of his social disaster, is most certain when he who commands is least removed from the station of him who obeys. The most odious of tyrants is he who is tyrant under authority. Foremen and overseers put more violence into their dealings than emperors and emperors.

every criticism an imposition, every order an outrage on their liberty. They would not know how to submit to rule. To respect anything or anybody would seem to them a mental aberration. They say to people after their fashion, "Beyond us there is nothing."

To the faculty of the proud belong also those difficult and superstitious people who in humble life find that their superior never do them fitting honor, whom the best and ugliest kind do not.

Tobacco Chronicles.

And the seven years of tobacco piousness, that was in the land, of Kentucky, was ended.

2. And the seven years of death began to come according as the Society of Equity had said; and the death was in all lands; but in the land of Kentucky, there was tobacco.

3. And when the land of Liver-pool, and all the land of New York was famished, the people cried to the Society of Equity for tobacco; and the Society said unto all the true people: Go ye unto the Governor of the Black Belt, for the same have we appointed to rule over us. What he saith to you, do.

4. And the tobacco famine was over all the face of the earth; and all countries come into Kentucky to Governor Equity for to buy tobacco.

5. And when the Trust people saw there was tobacco in Kentucky, the Trust said to their agents: Why do ye look one upon another?

6. Behold I have heard there is tobacco in Kentucky: Get you down thither, and buy for us from thence.

7. And the Trust buyers even Ed-hogheimer and Jayle Kuskey and Gallaherovitchsky, went down to buy tobacco in Kentucky.

8. And Equity was governor now over all the Black Belt, which growth to tobacco in Kentucky, and he it was, that sold to all the people of the land; and the Trust buyers came and bowed down themselves before him with their faces to the earth.

9. And the Governor said the buyers, and he knew them, and made himself strange to them, and spoke roughly unto them, and he said unto them: Where come ye? And they said from Yankee land, and Ireland and England, for to buy tobacco.

10. And the Governor said unto them: Ye are spies, to see the nakedness of the land you come to. And they said unto him: Nay, my lord, but to buy tobacco to our servants come.

11. Then the Governor spoke roughly to them, commanding: Fetch hither Your Wallets, that your words may be proved, whether there be any truth in you. Where be the Simoleons?

12. And it came to pass as every man emptied his Wallet, every man's bundle of money was in his Wallet.

13. Which, when the Governor saw the bundles of money and that their was a sufficiency thereof, he was exceeding glad. And he turned aside and said: Behold! I do bid ye, I do bid ye the dissipator. And he returned to them again and said:

14. Aforetime ye came to Kentucky for to buy tobacco; And ye did wickedly combine to take the farmer by the neck, and to take the slave of his breeches and despoiled him of his tobacco; giving him therefor three Simoleons per hundred. Now, therefore, shall ye pay ten Simoleons per hundred. So much shall thou pay for Equity.

15. And he spoke roughly to them. Then they were sore afraid, and said one to another: Behold! the Governor is on to us. Yes, he knoweth our vain tricks. 16. And they returned and said: They servants perceive they are right up against it, therefore take, we pray thee, all of a sufficiency and roll out the tobacco.

17. Then the Governor opened all the storehouses and sold unto the Trust buyers. And he sold unto the Independent buyers also. Yes, even to Athurjarvisky, and to Jonadonthodgeheimer and to Nosworthyoberlin. But from these he exacted in Equity only eight Simoleons per hundred. But from the Trust buyers he taketh ten Simoleons per hundred in Equity.

18. And the people said: Behold how good is Cohesive Organization, Selah!

A Kansas farmer, with his eyes directed toward the rafters, was saying grace when he exclaimed: "Ther's that darn gimlet we've been looking for the last six months. Get up there and get it quick, Jim—we ax for Christ's sake, Amen!"

CAN "BUST" TRUSTS.

Boston, Feb. 22.—Thomas W. Lawson has announced his willingness to place before President Roosevelt or any adequate investigating tribunal that the President may name, all the inside knowledge he has of the trusts in regard to the work of the Standard Oil and other monopolies. He declared that the chief danger to the success of the agitation that has been begun in Kansas and other States is that the people, although now appar-

Woman's Kidney Troubles

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is Especially Successful in Curing This Fatal Disease.

Being fully aware of this, Mrs. Pinkham, early in her career, gave exhaustive study to the subject, and in producing her great remedy for woman's ills—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—was careful to see that it contained all the elements of a perfect remedy, and was sure to control that fatal disease, woman's kidney troubles.

The Vegetable Compound acts in harmony with the laws that govern the entire female system, and while there are many so-called remedies for kidney troubles, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the only one especially prepared for women, and thousands have been cured of serious kidney troubles by its use. It cures the kidneys and the bladder, and the female system, and when a woman has such symptoms as pain or weakness in the joints, backache, bearing down pains, urine too frequent, scanty or high colored, or depositing like brick dust in it; unusual thirst, swelling of hands and feet, or swelling under the eyes or about the face in the back running down the inside of her groin, she may be sure her kidneys are affected and should lose no time in combating the disease with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the woman's remedy for woman's ills.

The following letters show how wonderfully successful it is.

plains, N. J., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

I cannot thank you enough for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. When I first wrote to you I had suffered for years with what the doctor called kidney trouble and congestion of the womb. My backache, and the feeling that I could hardly walk across the room. I did not get any better, so decided to stop doctoring with my physician and take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I am thankful to say that I am now cured. I feel as well as my own work, have no more backache and my kidneys are now in the best of health. I cannot praise your medicine enough, and I advise all my women suffering with kidney troubles to try it.

Mrs. J. W. Lang, of 630 Third Avenue, New York, writes:

I have been a great sufferer with kidney trouble. My backache all the time and I was unable to do my work. I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it cured me when everything else had failed. I feel as well as my own work, have no more backache and my kidneys are now in the best of health. I cannot praise your medicine enough, and I advise all my women suffering with kidney troubles to try it.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation.

Woman suffering from kidney trouble, or any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Out of the great volume of experience which she has to draw from, it is more than probable that she has the knowledge that will help your case. Her advice is free and always helpful.

The First Photograph.

The first photos reproduced and uttered by a photograph are naturally a matter of historic interest. When Edison was at work on his first phonograph many weeks were consumed in experiment. It is said that when the talking machine was first discovered it was as much a surprise to its inventor as to the world. The Wizard was working on some telephone receivers and was led to put a piece of tin foil on a cylinder. It recorded sound, and Edison was convinced that the human voice could be recorded and produced. When the time came to make an actual test Edison, with his mind on mechanical details, absentmindedly tested his contrivance with the familiar phrase, "Mary had a little lamb." The verse "Mary had a little lamb" was the first record taken by the machine.

PELLVILLE.

During the cold spell farmers spent most of their time in the stores, changing ideas and talking generally. In speaking of rabbits John Burdett, a fine man and good farmer, said he and his brother hunted one evening and killed forty-two in two hours. He says they strung them on a long pole and carried them home when they drove and put them in cold storage by using a large barrel. They put in a layer of rabbits, then a layer of snow which they pounded down with a mallet. They had several hunts and the same thing was repeated until they had a barrel of frozen rabbits, which they chopped out and used as they needed them until late spring.

J. Skinner, who never was known to prevaricate, says while at Knottsville one night last summer he was awakened by a violent electric storm. The keen, penetrating peals of thunder, immediately after the bright flash of lightning, frightened and completely unnerved him, when the storm passed over he found that three of his sound jaw teeth were loose and could with difficulty be held in his mouth. In a few days they tightened up and are now as good as ever.

Considerable time was used in talking and arguing about the merits and demerits of the A. S. of E. Some would contend that it was the one and only thing needed and that the founder was the second Moses, who was leading us farmers out of the wilderness, they argued that all laboring men were being organized and a long and bloody war was inevitable. Some contended that a vigilant committee would visit the farmer who insisted on planting more crop than is prescribed by the union and cut up and destroy it and, if necessary, burn his barns. Others, who are level-headed and conservative in every deal, do not agree with them and will not countenance such lawless outbursts.

There is a good lodge here and some of the best men we have belong to it. "Lynchburg price or bust" is our motto and it looks like they will get it. While it will not attempt to criticize the organization we do think some of its members would gain more by hustling around and trying in some conceivable way to make something for their dear families, instead of lounging around, talking three eights and A. S. of E., as though that was all that is necessary to secure for them, their heirs and assigns with covenant of general good will, peace, happiness and plenty forever and eternally. Whenever a new thing starts up some people let go of everything else and grab hold of it. They talk, theorize, philosophize and "blow off" from early dawn till set of sun, and then some. Watch such a man. He never was a success at anything and all the organizations on earth combined will never make him anything but a kicker and blow hard. They never educate their children and in consequence they grow to make more howlers and discontents. We are truly glad we have no howlers in Pellville.

It is right for farmers to organize and have meetings where they can talk and exchange ideas and cultivate a good brotherly feeling. The A. S. of E. is all right and we believe will do a great deal of good, but farmers must not expect too much from it, we must hustle some ourselves and make every edge cut.

I was all run down from nervousness and overwork and had to resign my position and take a rest. I found that I was not gaining my strength and health as fast as I could wish, and as your Wine of Cardui was recommended as such a good medicine for the like of our sex, I bought a bottle and began using it. I was satisfied with the results from the use of the first bottle, and took three more and then found I was restored to good health and strength and able to take up my work with renewed vigor. I consider it a fine tonic and excellent for worn-out, nervous condition, and am pleased to endorse it.

that will. If we would raise what we eat and not depend on buying it with tobacco, more might be taken from that wonderful almighty crop and the acreage would naturally be cut down, thereby making it easier for us to get better prices, instead of that we devote all our time to that one crop and many of us live on corn bread and bacon, and buy a great deal of that.

A farmer can live better than any article he can raise. We know of one man who claims to be a poor farmer on whose table is found of his own raising, blacut, corn-bread, sorghum, potatoes, onions, parsnips, cabbage, beets, turnips, trout, milk and butter, celery, pickles, canned apples, tomatoes, plums, pumpkin and peas, dried gourd, wife, honey, the sugar, coffee, soda, tea, pepper and lamp oil with eggs and chickens. Frequently a nice fat pullet is in evidence at meal time. His children look intelligent and are easily educated. Already refined, they love their home where they can eat the choicest of food from a fine orchard, jam, run, romp, sing and joke dayling at once and for all hard times as long as they live or keep their health.

It is within the province of every farmer to live likewise. He don't have to live on stave vegetables and rancid fat, but know where every article he eats comes from. Farmers, while we preach union, let us advocate industry, frugality and temperance and try to get the idea of beautifying our homes, improving our lands, educating our children and quit dressing, acting and talking such a way as to cause others to regard us as "Kebabs or hayseeds." Let us not make dull fools of ourselves, M. Nosley.

Chuck Connors An Author.
Chuck Connors, the famous "Bovary Boy" of New York, whose unofficial title is the "Mayor of Chinatown," has become an author. He has written, in his own peculiar style, a volume, the title of which is "Bovary Life." No one in the world is better fitted to write on the subject of life inside than Chuck, and he tells the story in his own inimitable dialect, and he mingles wit, pathos and tragedy with the skill of a man of letters. He and "Slate" posed for the illustrations, which are unique. The book is published by Richard K. Fox, New York, and is sold at 25 cents.

The Oldest Church.
The oldest Christian church in the world is at Rome. Not far from the great Church of St. Maria Maggiore, in a street bearing the same name, is the much smaller Church of St. Pudentiana, which tradition as well as the opinion of archaeologists and experts declares to be the most ancient of the Christian edifices of Rome.

About the middle of the first century, a certain Roman senator named Paul had a house in this spot. It was a Christian convert and it is said a distant relative of Paul, the apostle who lodged with him from A. D. 41 to 48, and converted his two daughters, Praxedea and Pudenciana. For the religious uses of himself and guests he built a small chapel in this house, and when he died in 96 and his wife a year later his daughter added a baptistry, the plans for which were drawn by Pius, the then bishop of Rome. In course of time a church was erected on the site of the original house of Paul and consecrated by the bishop in 108 or 145.

The Rented Babies of Paris.
The written law provides for every child in France that the government supplement the home education and when necessary replace it entirely, but as a matter of fact there are scores of children, in Paris especially, who have shaken free of their parents or been cast off by them and who live a vagabond existence, playing hide and seek with the officers of the law. Among this band the commonest of these is begging, though generally there is some older person back of the wailing specimen one meets with on the streets. The fruitful incomes in this profession are obtained only through children. During the nights between New Year's and Christmas a baby in long clothes, especially if he be decent-looking, rents for as high as $5 or $6. His brothers and sisters from one to five years old bring $2, while those still older are worth a dollar on the coldest days—Harpers Magazine.

What a Hand May Mean.
In all my experiences and thoughts I am conscious of a hand. Whatever touches me, whatever thrills me, is as a hand that touches me in the dark, and that touch is my reality. You might as well say that a snake which makes you gasp or a blow which brings the stinging tears to your eyes is unreal as to say that those impressions are unreal which I have accumulated by means of touch. The delicate tremble of a butterfly's wings in my hand, the soft petals of violets curling in the cool folds of their leaves or lifting sweetly out of the meadow grass, the clear, dry outline of face and limb, the smooth arch of a horse's neck and the velvet touch of his nose—all these and a thousand resonant combinations, which take shape in my mind, constitute my world—Helen Keller in Century.

Disgusted.
Arthur—Weren't you awfully frightened when you saw the burglar in your room?
Theodore—I was worse than frightened; I was disgusted. He said if I said a word I was a dead man. Absurd, don't you know. A dead man couldn't talk.—Boston Transcript.

IT "WERE"

Danville, Ky.,—A debate last night at the Atlanta Methodist church between two of the most prominent colored preachers in this section on the question, "Were the earth created in six days or were it not?" as stated by the chairman of the debate, has stirred the negro population to a religious excitement not known in a long while. The Rev. Dr. Wood, of Danville, and Viney, of Lancaster, talked to a large crowd of both white and colored people. On one side of the church sat the whites, composed mainly of Central University students, who manifested great enthusiasm over the argument. After heated discussions, lasting two hours, interrupted at intervals by loud applause, the judges rendered a decision in favor of the affirmative.

THOUGHTS.

Much has been given to us and much will rightfully be expected from us. We have duties to others and duties to ourselves, and we can shirk neither. We have become a great nation, forced by the fact of its greatness into relations with the other nations of the earth; and we must behave as becomens a people with such responsibilities. Toward all other nations, large and small, our attitude must be one of cordial and sincere friendship. We must show not only in our words but our deeds that we are earnestly desirous of securing their good will by acting toward them in a spirit of just and generous recognition of all their rights. But justice and generosity in a nation, as in an individual, count most when shown not by the weak, but by the strong. While ever careful to refrain from wronging others we must be no less insistent that we are not wronged ourselves. We wish peace; but we wish the peace of justice, the peace of righteousness. We wish it because we think it is right and not because we are afraid. No weak nation that acts manfully and justly should ever have cause to fear us, and no strong power should ever be able to single us out as a subject for insolent aggression.—President Roosevelt's Inaugural Address.

ONLY a few days left now in which to make your guess in our U. S. Treasury contest.

The "old postmaster," J. W. Hardin, and his good wife are improving, all of which is good news to their many friends.

The friends of Hon. W. W. Taber, of Havesville, will be sorry to learn of his serious illness of lagrippe and bright's disease.

The News would like to see the spirit of Rooseveltism inaugurated in every town, city and county in this good old state of Kentucky.

We want to warn the Democrats of this county, as well as the Republicans, to put none but sober men on their tickets and to cut whiskey out of their campaign.

The farmers will hold meetings next Saturday in Hardinsburg, Havesville and Ford'sville, to take steps to prize and hold their tobacco. At Havesville they will be served with a free dinner. Havesville got this cue from Cloverport.

The Democrats of this county did the proper thing in calling a delegate convention. Old-time Democratic ways are the "best" for the party and the people. Now if they will eliminate the "machine" and let the people have a fair show we may be happy yet.

We announce in this issue Mr. W. J. Hall, of Rockvale, as a candidate for jailer of Breckenridge county, subject to the action of the Republican party. Mr. Hall is a well-known farmer in this county, has had a good deal to do with the public affairs of the county, and so far as we know, has always fulfilled his duties. He is a sober, industrious citizen and worthy to be honored by his party and the people. His claims should receive consideration.

* It seems that none of the Democratic aspirants for the office of sheriff of this county want the ticket. Better adopt our ticket with one change, viz., Herbert Beard at the head with Charlie Lightfoot and S. W. Bassett as deputies. Herbert Beard is not afraid to tackle the head of it. Here's an equal division and why not name them and give them the field? The sheriff's office ought not to be in politics. This ticket will not suit the politicians but it would be backed by all the good men and women and all the independent voters.

BROTHER NEWSOM is a great preacher as well as a great orator. His success lies in his indifference for the opinions of his auditors. He loses self-consciousness and speaks from his heart and personal experience. His religion fairly sparkles from his eyes, his face, his gestures, and in every movement of the man. Religion is in his soul and he don't care who knows it. In fact he wants everybody to know it and take hold of it; and it's a mighty hardened sinner that can resist his pleadings. Everybody in the town is glad of his coming and will be sorry when his time comes to go.

MODEL FARM AT EXPOSITION.

Outdoor Exhibit Will Show Different Varieties of Crops Growing Side By Side

Portland—An experimental garden or model farm where will grow every variety of every different kind of plant which contributes to the food of man or domesticated beasts, will be a feature of the Lewis and Clark Exposition which will open at Portland June 1. Growing grasses, forage plants, vegetables, flowers and fruit trees will grow side by side, giving an impressive object lesson to visiting agriculturists.

This novel exhibit will be located in a small canyon which was utilized years ago by Chinamen as a truck garden. The soil is rich and productive, and only practical cultural methods as applied to general farm conditions will be employed in making this live exhibit.

The agriculture section will be devoted to the growing of various forage plants, including about a dozen varieties of the domestic field pea, three of vetch, alfalfa, two varieties of mangel-wurzel, three of turnips, two of field carrots, rape and kale.

There will be upwards of seventy varieties of vegetables, including the climate and soil of the Willamette Valley. The different kinds of vegetables shown will include cabbage, brussels sprouts, cucumbers, onions, celery, corn, melons, peppers, tomatoes, squash, cauliflower, lettuce and hops. There will be grown several varieties of Bonanion hops, a portion two years of age and the remainder one year, to convey an idea as to the growth of hops on Willamette Valley soil at their respective stages.

A number of varieties of choice orchard and small fruits have been planted and many of these although only one year out will be fruiting during the Exposition. One section will be devoted to anchus showing the methods employed on the Pacific Coast in training orchard and garden plants. While no one expects to see a fully-grown orchard at an exposition, it will be a novel sight to see a real young one bearing its first crop of fruit, from raspberries and blackberries through currants, gooseberries, cherries, peaches, plums, peaches, apricots and apples. Under the usual climatic conditions the crops should be well advanced and will afford much interest to visitors.

In horticulture there will be various plants filled with over 30 varieties of annual and perennial flowers, including astors, carnations, cosmos, escholtzia, hollyhock, nasturtium, single and double, petunias, verbenas, etc. Centennial Park the natural position of the Exposition grounds is an exhibit itself of the wealth of trees and flowers which Oregon produces. It was laid out by an experienced landscape artist with a view to making the most of the natural scenic beauty of the site. On the crest of a hill on the south and is a great bed of roses of every variety, which flower blooms all the year round at Portland. Extending from this point is a network of roads and paths winding among the grassy slopes, which are thickly dotted with trees and shrubs, both evergreen and deciduous, of 36 varieties, all native to the Oregon country.

A Helpless Woman.

"My wife's the most helpless creature," growledaddy, "simply can't do anything without bothering me to help her."

"Yes?"

"Yes. Only last night I had to reach up and get a candle off the shelf of the pantry for her so she could go down cellar and bring up a scuttle of coal."

BEN HUR.

The Greatest Spectacle of the Century to be Staged in Louisville.

Towering triumphantly as the most massive and picturesque as well as the most impressive dramatic spectacle in the history of the world, "Ben Hur" will seek new honors at Macaulay's Theatre, Louisville, Ky., the week of March 20th. Never before in the history of Louisville amusements has an announcement of a theatrical production created such a sensation, for it means something new to the public to see a dramatic spectacle on the colossal scale of the present production. The scenic settings to be used are those which marked the World's Fair run in St. Louis this past summer and the engagement at the Big Chicago Auditorium. They were imported from the Drury Lane Theatre, London for this season's tour of the play.

"Ben Hur" is a wonderful play. All who have seen it agree that nothing more beautiful, inspiring spiritual and edifying than "The Healing of the Lepers," in the last act has ever been offered on the stage of the American theatre. At this point, this great play is most truly and in a very high sense "religious." Here the stage seems to have consecrated itself and its resources to the service of Christianity, and there is "nothing that is not reverent, beautiful and altogether fitting in its service. This scene and the widely advertised chariot race in the act preceding, are the great special features of the play which give it much of its wonderful value and extraordinary power.

If the American drama had done absolutely nothing worthy in its long career but this; had its fame to rest solely upon this one noble product of

C., one of the best-known railroad men of the country, sends the following grateful letter: "Thanks to the Cuticura Remedies, I am now rid of that fearful pest, weeping eczema, for the first time in three years. It first appeared on the back of my hand in the form of a little pimple, growing into several blotches, and then on my ears and neck. They were exceedingly painful because of the itching and burning sensation, and always raw. After the first day's treatment with Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Pills, there was very little of the burning and itching, and the cure now seems to be complete. ### WOMEN WHO SUFFER

Listen to What Dr. Hartman Proposes to Do For You Without Charge.

Doubtless hundreds of thousands of women all over the United States have seen Dr. Hartman's offer in the papers—how he has undertaken to treat every woman suffering with any form of female disease who will write to him, free of charge.

To those who have not heard of this it may be said that Dr. Hartman is a physician and surgeon of great renown in medical circles, especially in the treatment of those diseases which women alone have to bear.

He has arranged to answer all letters that are sent to him from women troubled with any form of female weakness, free of charge, giving the benefit of knowledge which has cost him forty years to accumulate.

The medicines he prescribes are without the reach of any woman, and she can get them at any drug store.

All she is required to do is to send her name and address, together with her symptoms, duration of sickness and age. Address Dr. S. B. Hartman, President of the Harman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio. Mrs. Senator Roach, of Larimore, N. Dak.; Mrs. Senator Warren, of Cheyenne, Wyo.; Delia Lockwood and Mrs. General Longstreet, of Washington, D. C., are among the prominent ladies who endorse Peruna.

Miss Helen Roloff, Kaukauna, Wis., writes: "Several times during the past two years or more my system has been greatly in need of a tonic, and at those times Peruna has been of great help in building up the system, restoring my appetite and securing peaceful sleep."

Miss Muriel Armitage, 30 Greenwood Ave., Detroit, Mich., District Organizer of the Royal Templars of Temperance, writes as follows: "I suffered for five years with uterine many investigations already ordered by congress. IS IN THE RACE. Judge Frank E. Dauberly, County Judge of Nelson county, announced last night that he will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress from the Fourth congressional district to succeed David H. Smith, the present Congressman, who has already announced that he will not be a candidate for the nomination. Leading Democrats from Hart, Larne, Breckenridge and Meade counties were in Louisville yesterday and held an informal meeting late yesterday afternoon in the Louisville Hotel, to discuss the congressional race in the Fourth district. They said that Judge Dauberly is the proper man for the place and agreed in informing him for the nomination.—Sunday's Courier-Journal.

POSSIBLE CANDIDATE. Harlinsburg, Ky., March 7.—(Special.)—Hubert Bruner, of Union Star, is a possible candidate for deputy sheriff, on the Democratic ticket. Mr. Bruner is a good man, would make a good officer, and would add strength to that ticket.

NO POLICE COURT. The case of Price Ray, charged with conducting a public auction without a license, has been continued in police court on account of the continued illness of Judge Wills. There was no police court last week or this week.

Life Guards. The Life Guards are two regiments of cavalry forming part of the British household troops. They are gallant soldiers, and every loyal British heart is proud of them. Not only the King's household, but yours, ours, everybody's should have its life guards. The need of them is especially great when the greatest loss of life, disease, cold, influenza, catarrh, the grip, and pneumonia do in the stormy month of March. The best way that we know of to guard against these diseases is to strengthen the system with Hood's Sarsaparilla—the greatest of all life guards. It removes the conditions in which these diseases make their most successful attack, gives rigour and tone to all the vital organs and functions, and imparts a genial warmth to the blood. Remember the weaker the system the greater the exposure to disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the system strong.

SMITH—CLARK. Miss Margaret Clarke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Clarke, of Anthony street, and Mr. Raphael Smith, son of Mr. Peter Smith, of South Frederick street, unceremoniously took leave of their friends in this city at midnight Tuesday and went to Harlinsburg, Tenn., where they were held married this morning.—Owensboro Inquirer.

Miss "Larkie" is a niece of Capt. J. H. Rowland, of this city. Mr. Smith had a position here last year with the American Tobacco company. Both are well known here.

Women find quick relief in Dr. Thacker's Liver and Blood Syrup.

NO INVESTIGATION. Washington, March 2.—No investigation of the tobacco trust will be ordered by this session of congress, as it has been decided that no action will be taken on the resolution offered for that purpose by Representative Keboe, of Kentucky. The postponement of action is on account of the Miss Muriel Armitage of the Harman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio. Mrs. Senator Roach, of Larimore, N. Dak.; Mrs. Senator Warren, of Cheyenne, Wyo.; Delia Lockwood and Mrs. General Longstreet, of Washington, D. C., are among the prominent ladies who endorse Peruna.

Miss Helen Roloff, Kaukauna, Wis., writes: "Several times during the past two years or more my system has been greatly in need of a tonic, and at those times Peruna has been of great help in building up the system, restoring my appetite and securing peaceful sleep."

Miss Muriel Armitage, 30 Greenwood Ave., Detroit, Mich., District Organizer of the Royal Templars of Temperance, writes as follows: "I suffered for five years with uterine irregularities, which brought on hysteria and made me a physical wreck. I tried doctors from the different schools of medicine, but without any perceptible change in my condition. In my despair I called on an old nurse, who advised me to try Peruna, and promised good results if I would persist and take it regularly. I kept this up for six months, and steadily gained strength and health, and when I had used fifteen bottles I considered myself entirely cured. I am a grateful, happy woman to-day."

Miss Lucy M. Riley, 83 Davenport St., Cleveland, Ohio, writes: "I wish to add my indorsement to thousands of other women who have been cured through the use of Peruna. I suffered for five years with severe backache, and when weary or worried in the least I had prolonged headache. I am now in perfect health, enjoy life and have neither an ache or pain, thanks to Peruna."

—Lucy M. Riley. If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Harman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.
